Councilmember Soriano referred to an email from consultants Gray & Osborne, Inc. regarding the question of whether a pole would be required for data collection units. Mr. Larson responded that they hope to attach these units to PUD poles and City poles.

*Public Comment:Scott Setzer, Sensus Metering Systems, 1636 – 204th Place NE, Sammamish, WA.

Mr. Setzer explained his company's method of approaching the process. He stated that they would need more time to study the area under consideration and the costs would be unknown until the construction actually took place. He stated that their infrastructure utilizes a minimalist approach. He believes they could come up with some more definitive costs with more time. His company was declared to be non-responsive, but he stated that they want to be a player.

Jeff Spromley, Western Regional Manager for Hexagram – 4708 – Riverview Avenue, Westland, OR.

Mr. Spromley stated that in his opinion there had been plenty of time and information to prepare a bid proposal. He stated that his company also plans to maximize the City's existing resources, before needing to install any new towers.

Mr. Spromley replied that they would be right next to the main staff near the top. They are a self-contained unit with a solar panel. He added that the data collectors would maintain data for up to 30 days in case of power outages.

Jeff Vaughan stated that he was very upset about the graffiti. He discussed the need for electrical and telecommunication facilities that had been tagged to be cleaned up. He felt that fast cleanup was the key and noted that some property owners still haven't done anything about cleaning it up. He has been gathering information and has been contacted by many citizens with tips that he will pass on. He commended some businesses that had cleaned up very quickly, such as Kentucky Fried Chicken, Marysville Junior High, Skippers. He suggested sending them a thank you.

Mary Swenson stated that the SRO is keeping track of the graffiti and cataloging the information. She noted that they might contact some of the service groups to enlist their help.

CURRENT BUSINESS – None.

NEW BUSINESS

A. Wireless Communication Facilities (WCF) Code Amendment; PA 06007.

Senior Planner Steve Roberge reviewed the proposed changes to the Wireless Communications Facilities Code as outlined in his memos to the Planning Commission dated 1/4/06, 2/8/06, 2/22/06 and 3/10/06. Gloria Hirashima stated that this was a definite effort to get away from the large stand-alone towers.

- Councilmember Seibert asked how this would work on utility poles. Mr. Roberge explained that the PUD required a separation between the electrical equipment and the antennae, but the antennae would extend up above the pole about 10 feet.
- Mr. Seibert asked about ground equipment placement. Mr. Roberge explained how this is addressed in the Code's Design Standards.
- Councilmember Seibert stated that he would like to see something in the franchise agreements addressing who is responsible for removal of the facilities in the future. City Attorney Grant Weed stated that this is something that is typically in the agreements.
- Councilmember Vaughan addressed concerns regarding some highly visible stealth facilities in the area. Gloria Hirashima discussed how this relates to the signage code.

The proposed code amendments would make the City's code consistent with state law. He reviewed the changes as detailed in his memo to the Planning Commission dated 1/10/06.

- Councilmember Nehring asked if manufactured homes could be placed anywhere that single-family homes were allowed. Mr. Roberge affirmed that they could.
- The Council asked Jason McCracken of Heritage Home Center in Everett to explain the difference between mobile homes and manufactured homes. Mr. McCracken discussed the differences with regard to construction, especially wiring.
- Carmen Rasmussen noted that areas with CC&R's had the right to restrict manufactured homes. Mr. Roberge concurred and noted that this was because it was a private agreement.
- Councilmember Seibert asked if neighborhoods could form a homeowners association at any time. Grant Weed stated that this is generally done when a property is platted. He wasn't familiar with any situation where an existing, unrelated group of lots formed an association, but he thought it would probably be legal.

C. Professional Services Agreement for Design of a New Two-Way Radio System.

Paul Roberts stated that they are waiting for the results of the bids. Staff will have the results for Council on Monday.

D. Professional Services Agreement with RH2 Engineering for Design Services on 73rd Ave. Water Main Improvements Project.
